

E-Commerce Performance Report

Executive Summary

This report analyzes recent e-commerce performance based on profit trends, regional sales distribution, pricing structure, and category performance. The analysis indicates stable operations with opportunities for regional expansion and strategic growth optimization.

1. Monthly Profit Analysis

July recorded the highest profit (~23K), followed by a decline in August (~17K–18K) and stabilization in September. The drop after July suggests seasonal or campaign-related impact.

2. Regional Sales Performance

The West region contributes the largest share of total sales (~31%), making it the strongest market. Other regions (North, South, East) contribute smaller and relatively balanced shares.

3. Pricing and Discount Insights

Average unit price is approximately 866.77 with consistent pricing across categories. Discount levels remain relatively low compared to total quantity sold, indicating sales are not heavily discount-driven.

4. Product Category Overview

Active sub-categories include Appliances, Furniture, Haircare, Outdoor, and Skincare. The diversified portfolio reduces risk and provides cross-selling opportunities.

5. Strategic Recommendations

- Re-evaluate July strategies and replicate successful campaigns.
- Increase marketing investment in high-performing regions (West).

- Launch targeted campaigns in underperforming regions.
- Introduce product bundles to increase average order value.
- Test premium pricing tiers for selected categories.
- Develop customer retention and loyalty programs.

Conclusion

The business is stable but shows limited growth in recent months. By focusing on regional optimization, pricing strategy, and category expansion, the company can drive sustainable revenue growth and improved profitability.
